Dear Colleagues,

I am writing to congratulate you at the start of your new group for logic, language and information at Opole.

I have learnt a lot about the role of your community in the remarkable history of Polish logic, through my involvement with last year's historical paper of your colleague Professor Urszula Wybraniec Skardowska.

It is good to see that new initiatives are under way to strengthen the broad role of logic at the crossroads of academic disciplines. Please be assured of the support of my institute ILLC at Amsterdam, ESSLLI, LogiCCC, and similar organizations keeping logic active today.

I wish you all the best in your endeavours.

Unfortunately, many duties keep me here in Amsterdam during this season - so I must convey this message by an electronic channel, and not face to face.

However, I hope to visit Poland again, a country where I have so many happy travel memories and know so many colleagues. And then, it will be a pleasure to see GLLI in action in Opole one day not too far away!

With warm collegial greetings, and if I still may, also with best wishes for the New Year from the snowy Dutch Coast,

Johan van Benthem
